

Elvira Moscarella

Born in Naples and graduated at the University of Campania, L.Vanvitelli in 2005. After a short period at the Melanoma Unit of San Gallicano Institute in Rome, she then moved to Reggio Emilia and conducted a PhD research study on multiple melanoma patients at the University of Modena and Reggio Emilia. She is now a researcher at the Dermatology Unit of the University of Campania, L.Vanvitelli, Naples, Italy. Author of numerous publications in the field of dermato-oncology and non-invasive diagnosis in dermatology,. She is Chair of the Education Committee of the International Dermoscopy Society, vice president of the International Society of Teledermatology and Section Editor of Dermato-oncology for DPCjournal.